

CARRIE CATT ARGUES RIGHT BACK AT GROVER CLEVELAND

Famous International Woman Suffrage President
Writes a Quick Answer to Ex-President's Article on Women at the Polls.

(In the October number of the Ladies' Home Journal, under the caption "Would Women Suffrage Be Unwise?" Grover Cleveland has set forth views tending to discourage women in their endeavor to urge the enfranchisement of their sex.—Editor.)

BY MRS. CARRIE CHAPMAN CATT.

President of International Woman's Suffrage Alliance and Former President of the National Woman's Suffrage Association.

New York, Oct. 5.—Grover Cleveland is convinced that "divine wisdom" has assigned a special sphere to women, and he knows exactly what that sphere is. But, does Grover Cleveland or any other human being know God's will, or the limits of the sphere He has designed for either men or women? In Turkey women are bought and sold, sometimes into wifehood, sometimes into slavery. In Australia women enjoy perfect equality with men in all matters of personal liberty. To which of these spheres has God assigned them?

MRS. CARRIE CHAPMAN CATT.

There surely is but one "same and wholesome" explanation of the variety of spheres held by women, and that is the explanation which science has given us, that the human race has evolved out of barbarism by slow and natural steps into its present civilization, and that it will continue to evolve into a civilization of the future as superior to that which we know today as ours is superior to that of primitive society.

The Ballot An Inherent Right.

Few woman suffragists have ever claimed the ballot for women as an inherent right. They claim it as an act of justice, not a concession of civility. The ballot was first given to men upon the principle that "taxation without representation is tyranny."

After a time men began to understand that there was something more important in government than property, and that was the man himself, who stood behind the property, and so they applied to American politics the principle that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed.

Women are taxed and women are governed, and for these reasons and for no other do woman suffragists ask the ballot. This is no "sentimental few of the respectable element live. He forgot to mention also that in the gubernatorial election last year four frauds were committed in this district, and that this time not one woman was implicated.

Effect Upon Women.

Mr. Cleveland fears the effect of suffrage upon women. A woman whose name is withheld has declared that the ideals of the women of Colorado have been lowered, the delicacy of their perception of right and wrong has been dulled, and that their womanhood has suffered. Yet every governor, since Colorado became a state, and hundreds of prominent citizens of Colorado have testified that among many good results of woman suffrage, the most valuable has been the gain in self reliance, strength of character, higher ideals and general information, which has come to women of the state under the influence of the suffrage.

The people of that state, after ten years of woman suffrage, obtained by a statutory and referendum act, voted it into the constitution by five times the majority which first granted it! No movement in Wyoming, Colorado, Utah or Idaho has been made to disfranchise the woman.

The Expediency of Woman Suffrage. Woman suffrage is expedient because it is of necessity an expedient step. They may believe that women will help to purify politics, but they do not and would not ask their enfranchisement for these reasons. They ask it because the right of representation is the just right of every adult citizen, and even though "the votes of the thoughtful and conscientious would almost certainly be largely outweighed by those of the disreputable, the ignorant, the thoughtless, the prejudiced and the coerced," the enfranchisement of women. They would recognize this condition as merely temporary.

We may lament the political conditions, but evolutionists will not be blind to the fact that political corruption is the symptom of "growing pains" of a great race. Evolution will not cease while there are large classes of men who are ignorant, unwise and dishonest; who have low ideals and no public spirit. It is the obligation of evolution to lift all such classes in to moral character and intelligent purpose. Democracy is a great factor in this development. By and by many character will no longer tolerate political corruption.

Neither will evolution be satisfied while there is a large class of ignorant, coerced, unthinking women. They, too, must be developed into self reliance and independent character.

We shall never have great, honest, strong, courageous men until we shall have strong and courageous mothers. Democracy will train the women in to strength and courage quite as successfully as it is today training men. In such freedom there is nothing to fear, for the Divine hand will still control the evolution of society.

TERRITORIAL TOPICS

SHOT AND KILLED BY UNKNOWN NATIVE.

James F. White of Prescott, and David W. Hawkins of Bisbee, both of Arizona, were shot and killed the other night at the Imperial Copper company's mine in the Silver Bell district, by an unknown Mexican, as they were passing along the street. There is a cause assigned for the shooting. Both murdered men are well known miners. Hawkins was originally from Colorado.

SANDS CARRY GOLD AND PLATINUM.

In its investigation of the values contained in the black sand near Prescott, Ariz., the United States geological survey found that the sand from Granite creek, Colubia and Walnut contained all the way from a trace to a small percentage of values in gold and platinum. The existence of the following minerals was also discovered: Hematite, magnetite, garnet, diorite, ilmenite, epidote, tourmaline, pyrite pseudomorphs, zircon, monazite and apatite.

NEW COUNTERFEIT TEN OF THE BUFFALO BILL.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 5.—Chief Wilkie of the United States secret service has announced the discovery of a new counterfeit $10 United States "Buffalo" note, the serial number of 1991, letter B, Lyons, register and Roberts, treasurer.

The counterfeit is fully three-eighths of an inch longer than the genuine, numbering and denominational "X" are darker than the genuine. The seal is a trifle darker than the genuine. The back of the note is printed in a very dark green.

NEW DORMITORY FOR EL TOVAR HOTEL.

Last Saturday twenty-two carpenters arrived in the city from Los Angeles and continued on to the Canyon where they are at present engaged by Contractor A. H. Harrell, on the construction of the new dormitory addition to the El Tovar hotel, the Williams News. As stated recently, the building is a two-story structure, 150x30 feet, and will contain about forty rooms. Mr. Harrell informs us that he will have the main portion completed and the roof on the same by next Saturday evening.

A NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

William Dawson, an employee of the Williams lumber company, had a narrow escape from death the first of the week, says the News. He was working on the track near the company's mill, and a log train had just passed by. Resuming work, he failed to notice the return of the train until a native called to him to jump for his life. Just as the train was upon him he leaped and fell from the track, clearing it with all except the toes of his left foot, which were pinched off.

YOUNG LADY WILL RECOVER FROM INJURIES.

The recovery of Miss Manette Myers now seems certain and it is thought that she will be able to sit up in two or three weeks, says the Raton Range. Considering that her life has been despaired of until the last few days, this is cheering news to her friends. It may be a long time before Miss Myers can put her weight upon her feet, but her family feel so sure of her ultimate recovery that they have slept for the past few nights for the first time since the accident occurred.

Miss Myers is but 16 years of age, and graduated here last spring, being the youngest pupil the high school ever graduated.

It will be remembered that Miss Myers was the victim of a runaway team a few days ago, which belonged to the Raton Ice company. The heavy wagon crushed her ankle in passing over her and she also sustained serious nervous injuries which have retarded her recovery.

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE FRANK TURRILL DEAD.

Judge Frank M. Turrill, justice of the peace at Santa Rosa, Guadalupe county, died at that place Sunday morning. His brother, George A. Turrill, of Cincinnati, in response to a telegram, arrived a few hours too late to see him alive. Judge Turrill had spent a number of years in the southwest in search of health. He was known at San Diego and Los Angeles. A few years ago he was assistant postmaster at Phoenix, Arizona. In his native city, Cincinnati, he graduated from a law school in 1895. In 1898 he organized company K, Eleventh Ohio volunteers, for the Spanish-American war, but the regiment was never mustered into service. Later he entered the Cuban postal service, where he remained during the American occupation, being at Havana, and afterwards assistant postmaster at Cienfuegos. Yellow fever greatly impaired his health and on his return from Cuba, he sought the soothing influences of New Mexico's climate, going to Santa Rosa in 1901, where his life was prolonged over four years. In January of this year he was elected justice of the peace, which office he filled with satisfaction until death.

A YOUNG WOMAN SHOOTED HERSELF.

Miss Estima Ewel, daughter of Andres Ewel, who lives west of Ros, in Mora county, in what is known as Montoya Pocket, shot herself through the heart last Thursday morning with a .38-caliber Colt's revolver. Death was instantaneous. The deceased was 21 years of age.

Circumstances surrounding the affair, says El Hispano Americano, give rise to a strong theory of suicide. According to the statement of her brother-in-law, Samuel Norando, who was nearly when the tragedy occurred, the girl had taken possession of his revolver, which had been lying empty under a bed for several days. She loaded it with cartridges which she found in the pockets of a pair of Norando's trousers which were hanging in the bed room, and then either deliberately or accidentally shot herself, probably the former. Her three sisters and a small brother were in the room at the time, but they were not aware of what she was doing until the shot was fired.

Her brother had noticed that she had been unusually quiet and morose for several days previous to the shooting, but says he was unaware that she had any trouble which would cause her to commit suicide.

The coroner visited the scene of the tragedy Friday morning and decided that an inquest would be unnecessary.

THE DINING CAR SERVICE

(From the California Limited Log Book)

It is peculiar that all of us should compliment the Harvey System, and yet we do. It's a habit, and we can't help it. I am really ashamed to say anything further, but I can't abstain. The dining car service on the California Limited is too good to be true.

TWO MILLION MARK IS PASSED

EXPOSITION ATTENDANCE BETTER NOW THAN EVER BEFORE—FAIR CLOSING OCTOBER 14TH, AND CLOSING WEEK WILL BE BIGGEST.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 5.—With the two million mark in prospect excellent for rolling up another half million before the gates are closed for the last time on the night of October 14, the Lewis and Clark Exposition is an assured financial success. The remarkable attendance demonstrates also that the fair has pleased the people, and that is another source of gratification. It is evident that the enormous attendance could not have been rolled up unless the fair had received frequent testimonials from early visitors.

It is evident now that the fair will be, in point of attendance and in every other respect, the most successful exposition ever held. Comparisons with the records made at the Trans-Mississippi Exposition at Omaha, an exposition of about the same magnitude as that now drawing to a close, and which has been generally conceded to have been the most successful of all fairs, show that the exposition will outdo the showing made by the eastern enterprise. This is considered more remarkable when the attendance is made that Omaha had a population of 13,000,000 within a day's journey, while there reside within a similar radius of Portland not more than 1,800,000 souls.

The stock show, which opened on September 19 for a period of ten days, proved the crowning feature of the fair. It was a notable success, being by far the biggest show of the kind ever held in the west, and by far the best attended. During the time it was running, the attendance at the fair showed a daily increase over the average of about 5,000, and the week ending September 24, was the largest in point of attendance of any during the fair period. The past week, with the stock show as an attraction during the first five days and Portland day on Saturday, promises to be still bigger, and probably will show a total of 200,000 admissions for the seven days. On Sunday, September 24, the Sunday attendance record was shattered by several thousand, when the turnstiles registered 17,688 admissions.

In spite of the fact that there are more people in Portland now than at any time since the fair opened, there has been no complaint on account of lack of hotel accommodations, or due to exorbitant charges by landlords. This happy state of affairs, it is certain, will continue right up to the close of the fair, because there is room in Portland for a great many more people than reasonably can be expected. In addition the weather continues to be all that could be desired.

The Lewis and Clark Poultry Show, the dates for which are October 5 to 12 inclusive, promises to be an exhibition of high quality and one of general interest. Western fanciers have shown themselves to be heartily in favor of the show, and have entered their choicest birds, while from the east are a number of entries of unusual interest.

SOME WONDERS OF STRANGE ANT LAND

Ants are the athletes of the insect world, easily carrying ten times their own weight. The edifices they rear by joint labor render the pyramids ridiculous; for the common wood ant (formica ruginosa) will build structures as large as a haycock, all of masonry.

If others are satisfied with smaller domiciles, it is because their needs are sufficed; but all alike dwell amid their underground galleries and halls with the order and activity of a busy, well-governed city. No nonsense is talked in ant lands; everybody being as good and great as anybody else, says St. Louis Globe-Democrat. They nurse with infinite devotion the ant babies when they appear, putting them in the warm upper galleries by day, and at night "tucking them up" in the snugest lower chambers. They bring home stores of food to the ant city, for those are wrong who say that the little creatures do not lay up winter provisions.

Sometimes whole colonies move to new quarters. Before long the emigrants will make the best of their new location, by constructing passages, chambers, pillared halls, royal apartments and nurseries out of the earth provided, and settling down to the duties of an ant town. A little dab of honey laid outside the colony, on the uncovered part of the tray, supplies them with food, which they come to fetch, emerging at gateways made at the edge of the glass cover. Thus recommendations the regular existence of the tribe, which may grow to number a quarter or a half million individuals.

When the observer quietly draws aside the upper lid, which conceals the glass top, there lies disclosed the daily existence of the tiny creatures, furnishing evidence of gifts utterly astounding and hardly to be disposed of by calling it instinct.

In one city this suddenly revealed to view will be seen the queen mother—of truly royal stature compared with her children and subjects—reclining in her throne. Ants come and go through the apartment, laying down small white pupae—the infants of the state—and carrying them off again when her majesty has inspected, touched, perhaps fed them. The ant-waiting, if we may so style them, do not touch their backs upon the sovereign; their heads are in the direction of "the presence."

In another city, whose squares and streets are next unveiled, a different species live. They are, perhaps, the pale colored ants who capture and train slaves; and if so, one may watch the luxurious masters, fed and attended by dark servants, who scurry hither and thither, intent upon their duties, visibly performing all kinds of work for the idle fighting ants. And slowly wandering up and down in the same streets and squares will be observed small wood lice, quite blind, but domiciled and maintained by the community, the functions of which appears to be keeping the city clean, for they will be seen feeding about for every scrap of dirt, and removing it—the housemaids of this ant people.

THE LAXATIVE OF KNOWN QUALITY

There are two classes of remedies: those of known quality and which are permanently beneficial in effect, acting gently, in harmony with nature, when nature needs assistance; and another class, composed of preparations of unknown, uncertain and inferior character, acting temporarily, but injuriously, as a result of forcing the natural functions unnecessarily. One of the most exceptional of the remedies of known quality and excellence is the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., which represents the active principles of plants, known to act most beneficially, in a pleasant syrup, in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to contribute their rich, yet delicate, fruity flavor. It is the remedy of all remedies to sweeten and refresh and cleanse the system gently and naturally, and to assist one in overcoming constipation and the many ills resulting therefrom. Its active principles and quality are known to physicians generally, and the remedy has therefore met with their approval, as well as with the favor of many millions of well informed persons who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual experience that it is a most excellent laxative remedy. We do not claim that it will cure all manner of ills, but recommend it for what it really represents, a laxative remedy of known quality and excellence, containing nothing of an objectionable or injurious character.

There are two classes of purchasers: those who are informed as to the quality of what they buy and the reasons for the excellence of articles of exceptional merit, and who do not lack courage to go elsewhere when a dealer offers an imitation of any well known article; but, unfortunately, there are some people who do not know, and who allow themselves to be imposed upon. They cannot expect its beneficial effects if they do not get the genuine remedy.

To the credit of the druggists of the United States be it said that nearly all of them value their reputation for professional integrity and the good will of their customers too highly to offer imitations of the
